

Joe is a Federal Assistance and Grants Officer, administering various grant and assistance programs for the federal government. He was born and raised in central Indiana and after serving 29 years in the US Air Force, he and his family retired to the Monument area in 2014. During his military career, he flew the KC-135 air refueling aircraft, served in various command positions, and participated in operations spanning humanitarian and disaster relief, support operations and combat support operations. He holds masters' degrees in Aviation Science, Operational Planning, and Strategic and International Affairs. He is also a certified nonprofit manager.

Joe and his wife Ann, who grew up in the Tri-Lakes area, have been married for 30 years and have 3 children: a Kansas Jayhawk, an Indiana Hoosier, and a soon-to-be Palmer Ridge Bear! Joe and Ann have been passionate volunteers in nonprofit and support organizations throughout the military communities where they have lived and are excited about being involved in the Monument community.
