

Brendan, a Cincinnati, Ohio native, has a BA in Communication & Public Relations from the University of Dayton. For the last 20 years, he has been in health insurance from the carrier side and most recently as a benefit consultant working with faith-based non-profit groups in Denver and Colorado Springs. In between, he worked at Community Health Partnership, serving the Medicaid population of El Paso, Park, Teller and Elbert counties. In 2015, Brendan left Cincinnati to join his wife Lizz in Colorado Springs where she had taken a position with an international children's ministry. He joined the staff at Tri-Lakes Cares in April of 2019 as Food Programs

Manager and is grateful for the opportunity to serve the community.

Brendan and Lizz have three adult children, three dogs, three cats and live on three acres in Falcon on the eastern edge of Black Forest. In his free time, he enjoys reading, music and exploring his adopted state.
