

Jessica grew up on the southside of Indianapolis, Indiana. She earned her Bachelor of Social Work from Indiana University and worked in child welfare for 5 years before deciding to stay at home with her two children. Because of her love of the mountains, Jessica and her family moved to Colorado Springs in August of 2018. Shortly after, Jessica began working towards a Master of Social Work degree, which she is expected to complete in May 2021. Jessica completed a practicum placement as part of her education at Tri-Lakes Cares in the spring of 2020 before joining the team as a case manager. Jessica is passionate about helping vulnerable populations and supporting her community. She also enjoys sharing music, movies, and hiking with her family.
