

Joseph has served as a Case Manager with Tri-Lakes Cares since August 2020. He is passionate about helping people become better versions of themselves as well as assisting them through life's challenges. Joseph spent most of his life in Phoenix and Tucson, Arizona, and he graduated from the University of Arizona in 2010 with a Bachelor of Arts degree in Sociology with a criminal justice minor. Joseph previously worked as a probation officer for the county and federal courts, as well as a recovery coach for a behavioral health agency before transitioning to Colorado Springs to work with Tri-Lakes Cares.

Joseph is a husband with a son and another child on the way. He is a Christian and dedicates much of his free time serving at his local church. In his spare time, Joseph enjoys playing sports, video games, and board games, as well as watching movies.
