

Jessica started at Tri-Lakes Cares as a front-desk volunteer in January of 2021. Jessica was born and raised on the western slope of Colorado and graduated from, then named, Mesa State College, located in Grand Junction, CO, where she focused her study in Culinary Arts. She is the proud mother of two beautiful girls and is blessed to be a step-mother to three more amazing children. Jessica is unconditionally loved by her husband, Seth, and they enjoy all outdoor activities as well as an array of musical concerts and events together. Jessica has food-centered retail experience along with leadership and managerial roles in the retail industry. She is beyond excited to be connected with an organization that serves her local community with so much compassion and dignity.
